SU Students Win $5,000 Bernstein Award for Knollege LLC

Daily Times Staff Report

SALISBURY, MD—

The business plan created by Salisbury University's 2010 Bernstein Award winners proposed using 21st century technology to transform higher education—and judges liked the idea. They awarded the competition's $5,000 top prize to a group of SU students who developed "Knollege LLC," an exclusive online educational network for college students nationwide to share ideas and questions. Pictured (L-R) is the winning team: junior Hunter McIntyre of Highland, MD; senior Charles Gray of Fruitland; and M.B.A. student Ryan Chacon of Laytonsville, MD.

Second place and a $1,000 prize went to junior Erik Butler for his plan for a Theatrical Warehouse. Honorable mentions and $250 prizes went to junior John Kline for AIR Lawn Care, and seniors Michael Silvers and Matthew Dotterer for Deals On Deck.
