The International Herbert Marcuse Society seeks papers that address the broad pedagogical concerns of cultivating emancipatory rationality.

Call For Papers: Abstracts of 250-500 words are due May 20, 2015

For further information please visit the Conference website at: http://www.salisbury.edu/marcuse/

Graduate students are invited to submit conference papers to a special issue of SPECTRA: the Social, Political, Ethical, and Cultural Theory Archives (http://spectrajournal.org).

SPECTRA is an online, scholarly journal hosted at Virginia Tech. The journal features work of an interdisciplinary nature and is designed to provide an academic forum for students to explore controversial topics, and take intellectual risks. SPECTRA welcomes scholarly refereed articles, book reviews, essays, interviews and other works that operate within a problem-centered, theory-driven framework.

In addition to the more traditional articles, essays, and book reviews, SPECTRA also accepts a wide range of original multimedia pieces for publication. These works include, but are not limited to, podcasts, digital videos, internet-hosted texts, artwork and presentations, comics and photography.

If you are interested in submitting your work to SPECTRA, we ask that you send your submissions to editor@spectrajournal.org. For more information, please see SPECTRA’s author guidelines at http://spectrajournal.org/about/submissions or write to the special issue editors Johannes Grow (jgrow1@vt.edu) and Sascha Engel (sascha-engel@vt.edu). Please direct general inquiries to editor@spectrajournal.org. Deadline for submissions is January 15, 2016.
