SUGGESTED SEQUENCE

The calculus sequence (MATH201/160, 202, 310) should be completed in consecutive semesters starting as soon as possible. MATH201 is preferred over MATH160. The financial math course (MATH215) can be taken in any spring semester following completion of the first calculus course. The mathematical statistics course (MATH413) should be attempted after completing the calculus sequence or concurrently with MATH310. The actuarial and financial models course (MATH415) can be taken in any spring semester following completion of the mathematical statistics course (MATH413) and the financial math course (MATH215).
