New Stadium Opens

SU's Sea Gulls are flocking to a new nest. The $19 million Sea Gull Stadium threw open its doors in the spring. A fitting home for SU's national championship-winning student-athletes and coaches, the stadium includes bleacher seating for nearly 5,000, some 2,800 on the home team side. The stadium has year-round locker rooms for the football, field hockey, and men's and women's lacrosse teams. On the second floor is an athletic training clinic, and the third floor has VIP seating areas with five covered suites for dignitaries and other special guests. The press box on the fourth floor houses the traditional media booth; game operations, including areas for the sports information directors, scoreboard staff, announcers and clock operators; technical facilities for video recording for the Sea Gull Sports Network; booths for home and visiting team coaches; and two radio studio booths for home and visiting teams.

Lucky 11 for Men's Lacrosse

SU men's lacrosse claimed its 11th men's lacrosse national championship against Tufts University. In the thrilling final seconds, Salisbury junior goalkeeper Colin Reymann denied an attempt by Tufts to tie the game. For his efforts, he was named the game's Most Outstanding Player, as he made 15 saves and led an SU defense that faced a second-half onslaught from the Tufts offense, which led the nation, scoring 17.68 goals per game on the season. The Salisbury offense did its damage in the first 36 minutes of the game, scoring eight-consecutive goals at one point to open up a 9-4 lead at halftime and stretch that edge to 12-4 with nine minutes to play in the third quarter. The win also vaulted Head Coach Jim Berkman into uncharted territory for NCAA men's lacrosse coaches, becoming the first head coach to earn 11 national titles.

Track & Field Greatness

There is no doubt who the greatest male track & field athlete in SU history is, and Luke Campbell had earned that moniker even before his senior year.

In the 2015-16 indoor and outdoor seasons, Campbell claimed four more national championships, to bring his individual total to 11 – which is the most for any Division III male track & field athlete in NCAA history.

Campbell not only won his third-straight indoor championship in the 60-meter hurdles, but also he accomplished a goal of winning a national championship as part of a team, with the 4x400-meter relay title along with junior Jerel Madison and sophomores Zach Schmelz and Eric Halton. The two indoor titles gave Campbell nine in his career, tied for the most in NCAA Division III men's history; and during his final outdoor championships at the collegiate level, Campbell capped his historic career.

Alum Is New Basketball Coach

SU's men's basketball program is now led by a coach who is proud to return to his Alma Mater. Alumnus Andrew Sachs last coached at SU in the early 1990s before being named the head coach of the men's basketball program in 2015. Sachs was an assistant coach with the Sea Gulls from 1988-92 during one of the most successful runs in program history. Sachs has been a coach in high school and college basketball – at Divisions I, II and III – for 24 years before returning to the Salisbury sidelines, where he already has helped the team climb into the national rankings. Sachs is the seventh head coach in the history of the men's basketball program.
