50th Anniversary Exhibit
The Ward Foundation celebrates • p. 18
A Message from the President

As many of you already have heard, this spring I take my curtain call as president of Salisbury University. As I look back on my nearly two decades at the helm of this Maryland University of National Distinction, I am proud to have welcomed so many internationally renowned speakers and performers, from the Tibetan monks of Drepung Loseling Monastery to Nobel Prize-winner Lech Walesa to the Moscow Festival Ballet, who make a return visit to us in March.

SU has a rich tradition of varied, frequently spectacular and always enlightening cultural opportunities – or as our current Cultural Affairs Office series title puts it: the “Best of the Best.” Among this group of “bests,” I’m particularly excited for the performance by guitarists Sérgio and Odair Assad and mandolin player Avi Avital. They are just one of several accomplished musicians who perform for us, including our very own Salisbury Symphony Orchestra with guest artist Christopher Blasdel.

We observe African American History Month with thought-provoking discussions, including “Colored Civil War Troops” and “The Cambridge Uprising,” marking the 50th anniversary of this important moment in the civil rights struggle. Also marking a 50th anniversary is the Ward Foundation, and SU’s Ward Museum celebrates this milestone with an exhibit showcasing the history of the foundation. Other exhibits of interest include the Nabb Center’s “Modern Quilts of the Eastern Shore” and the SU Art Galleries “Talking Stick” public art residency and installation. The always active Department of Music, Theatre and Dance presents an engaging roster of performances, including the rollicking Hairspray – The Musical and a “Celebration of Great Composers.” Aspiring writers will want to check out the Center for Extended and Lifelong Learning’s Lighthouse Literary Guild’s workshop series – including many classes now offered near our beach communities.

Browse through Panorama and find all that is waiting for you at Salisbury University. I hope to see you soon at one of our many events.

Janet Dudley-Eshbach, Ph.D.
President, Salisbury University
Explore Our Beautiful Campus: Of course we want you to attend our amazing cultural events, but we also invite you to visit our campus and just explore! SU is quickly amassing a collection of accolades for its beautiful grounds. Most recently, travel website Expedia naming SU among the “Most Beautiful College Campuses.”

Almost Everything Is Free: SU is proud that most of our cultural offerings are free and open to the public. For events where a large audience is anticipated, attendees may be asked to pick up a free ticket in advance to ensure their seat, look for the $ symbol. For those events that do require an admission, look for the $ symbol and turn to pages 25-26 for ticket information.

All the Details: Looking for locations, contact phone numbers, websites or admission costs? You’ll find it all in one place. Turn to pages 23-26 and find this information organized by event sponsor.

Cultural Series Contact: If you see this symbol at the end of the event description, that means the event is sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Office and you can get more information on these events by calling 410-543-6271.

Events Can Change: As always, everything is subject to change. Visit the SU website for the press releases that include details about the event and the latest time, date and location information: www.salisbury.edu.

SPRING SEMESTER CULTURAL SERIES

In spring 2018, Salisbury University’s Cultural Affairs Office continues to present “The Best of the Best” – a series showcasing some of the world’s best artists. Some have previously performed at SU and others are new events that are sure to become future “Bests.” Celebrate the return of the Peacherine Ragtime Society Orchestra as they accompany Harold Lloyd’s most famous movie Safety Last. It features Lloyd clinging precariously to the big clock on the side of a tall building, one of the most iconic images of the silent film era.

Feathers of Fire: A Persian Epic is a breathtaking cinematic shadow play for all ages. Francis Ford Copolla shared: “Fantastic! One of the greatest epics of all time and my favorite ‘Shahnameh’ brought to life in a spectacular fashion by Hamid Rahmanian with shadow puppets design and cinematic wizardry.”

The Peter and Judy Jackson Chamber Music Series features one of Europe’s most revered ensembles, Trio Con Brio Copenhagen, and continues to provide live chamber concerts on the Eastern Shore.

Through our World Artists Experiences’ Ambassador Program, we celebrate the 11th season of the International Film Series, featuring films from Estonia, Paraguay, Jordan, South Africa and Bulgaria. We also host a Chinese New Year Celebration with music, song and other traditions of the Chinese holiday. Look for future performances from Paraguay and Israel.

Other offerings include the Magic Puppet Tea Party, a Global Puppet Exhibit, the International Dinner Series and tap dance classes.

This series is sure to bring out the “Best” in everyone!

29 MONDAY
International Film Series:
Cherry Tobacco
Holloway Hall, Great Hall, 7 p.m.
Estonia; Estonian with English subtitles
BRIDGES TO THE WORLD:
Small-town girl Laura is constantly bored. Her mother gets on her nerves, boys her age are stupid and everything anyone wants to do seems childish. One day her friend invites her on a hike led by a middle-aged nature-lover, resulting in a story about falling in love for the first time, made difficult when the feelings that are awakening are directed toward an older man.

29 MONDAY
SELECT MONDAYS THROUGH MARCH 5
Tap! Dance Classes
Holloway Hall Auditorium Stage, 5 p.m.
CLASSES: From the vaudeville era, through the Astaire-Rogers movies, to the intricate artistry of bebop, tap has dominated American dance with its rhythm, originality and humor. Join SU alumna Christie Emmons to learn the basics of this uniquely American art form. No registration or experience necessary. Yes! Bring your tap shoes.

29 MONDAY
THROUGH MAY 31
You’re on Indian Land …
Guerrieri Academic Commons, First Floor Lobby
Open During GAC Hours
NABB CENTER EXHIBIT:
Explore the history and legacy of the indigenous people of the Eastern Shore and their connections to the SU campus. Included are sections on the Wicomico, Pocomoke, Nanticoke, Manokin and Choptank tribes. The exhibit is a collaborative effort between Honors College students and SU staff, as well as local Native communities. Student research, civic engagement projects and materials from the Nabb Research Center’s special collections and University archives are highlighted.
Contact the Nabb Center about related reception and film screening to be held in March.

AFRICAN AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH - SU IS US
Association for the Study of African American Life and History National Theme:
AFRICAN AMERICANS IN TIMES OF WAR

1 THURSDAY
Pride & Prejudice: African American Chaplains at War
Perdue Hall 156, 7 p.m.
LECTURE: African American military chaplains have served their country with pride, often while facing significant prejudice. As an institution, the military chaplaincy sought to use religion to unify a nation at war, but it vacillated as it grappled with race, alternatively incubating integration in Chaplain School and holding fast to Jim Crow segregation. After the desegregation of the armed forces, this pattern continued, and Ronit Stahl’s talk explores how African American chaplains continuously navigated the tension between inclusion and exclusion over the past century of American wars.
Funded by the Fulton Public Humanities Program, the Office of Multicultural Student Services and the Department of History.

8 THURSDAY
A Proud History: Delmarva’s Colored Civil War Troops
Perdue Hall 156, 7 p.m.
KEYNOTE ADDRESS: SU professor emerita Clara Small discusses local free and enslaved African Americans’ hardships, valor and courageous fight to be free as well as their participation in a war that was not of their choosing. Retired history professor Small taught at SU for 36 years. Her publications include Men of Color, To Arms: Manumitted Slaves and Free Blacks from the Lower Eastern Shore of Maryland Who Served in the Civil War, co-authored with Rev. David Briddell, and They Wore Blue and Their Hearts Were Loyal: The United States Colored Troops of Dorchester County, Maryland, Slaves and Free Blacks Who Served in the Civil War, co-authored with Teresa M. Neild. Small has received numerous awards, including the University System of Maryland Regents’ Award for Public Service, the Community Foundation of the Eastern Shore’s Frank H. Morris Humanitarian Award and the Harriet Tubman Lifetime Achievement Award. Sponsored by the Fulton Public Humanities Program, the Office of Multicultural Student Services, Department of History and the Nabb Research Center.

Cultural Songs & Spoken Word for Black History Month
Guerrieri Student Union, Wicomico Room, 7 p.m.
SU GOSPEL CHOIR CONCERT: Under the direction and guidance of its advisor and spiritual encourager, the Gospel Choir and its dance ensemble are a light on SU’s campus. Their purpose is to spread the Gospel through African-American traditional and contemporary liturgical song and dance. They provide spiritual support to students through bi-monthly prayer, praise and worship; exposure to other campus ministries; and networking with area pastors and churches.
The Cambridge Uprising: Looking Back, Moving Forward
Guerrieri Student Union, Wicomico Room, 7 p.m.

PANEL DISCUSSION: This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Cambridge Uprising, an important moment in African Americans’ struggle for civil rights. The panel reflects on this event to explore what it might teach us about the national debates regarding civic engagement, law enforcement and race. Panelists include SU alumna Artura Jackson; Peter Levy, a professor of history and political science at York University; and Lawrence MacMillan, a seven-year veteran of the Philadelphia Police, has garnered several commendations and worked in some of the city’s toughest districts. Levy is the author of numerous books and articles, including The Great Uprising: Race Riots in Urban America during the 1960s and Civil War on Race Street: The Civil Rights Movement in Cambridge, Maryland. Jackson graduated in 2016 with a Master of Arts in history and has done extensive research on the role of gender in the Cambridge civil rights movement. She currently works for the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Sponsored by the Fulton Public Humanities Program, the Department of History, the Department of Social Work, the Nabb Research Center, and the Institute for Public Affairs and Civic Engagement (PACE).

Poet Yusef Komunyakaa
Guerrieri Student Union, Commons, Bistro, 7 p.m.

POETRY READING: Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Komunyakaa is internationally celebrated for his sustained, powerful engagement with the themes of war and African American music and Southern rural life. He has published more than 10 books of poetry and plays and literary criticism, including Dien Cai Dau, which is inspired by his Vietnam War service as journalist, the Pulitzer Prize-winning Neon Vernacular, and Warhorses: Poems. The reading is followed by a Q & A, book-signing and reception.

Organized by continent, artifacts are displayed with contextual backdrops and hands-on interactives that encourage patrons to immerse themselves in puppetry traditions from around the world. ☀️

28 WEDNESDAY

Feathers of Fire: A Persian Epic
Holloway Hall Auditorium, 7 p.m.
This is a ticketed event
2 free tickets per person available at the Guerrieri Student Union Information Desk
SU students, faculty, staff & alumni: Jan. 29;
Community: Feb. 9
School Performance: Holloway Hall Auditorium, 1 p.m. (Schools interested in bringing their students should call 410-543-6271 for more information.)

PERFORMANCE: This visually breathtaking cinematic shadow play for all ages is created by Hamid Rahmanian, a 2014 Guggenheim fellowship-winning filmmaker/visual artist. The play unfolds an action-packed magical tale of star-crossed lovers from the 10th-century Persian epic Shahnameh (The Book of Kings), who triumph at the end against all odds. Rahmanian’s graphics, derived from the visual tradition of the region, will be rendered as puppets, costumes, masks, scenography and digital animation, all of which will come to life in a “live animation” shadow casting technique perfected by shadow master Larry Reed on a cinema-size screen. The play also features an original score by the acclaimed musical team Loga Ramin Torkian and Azam Ali, who performed at SU in spring 2017. Feathers of Fire had its world premiere at the Brooklyn Academy of Music in 2016.

This engagement is made possible through the ArtsCONNECT program of the Mid Atlantic Foundation with support from the National Endowment for the Arts.

A Philosophical Conversation About Addiction & the Sobering Wisdom of Recovery
Conway Hall 179, 10 a.m.-3 p.m.
ADVENTURES IN IDEAS: HUMANITIES SEMINAR: The current opioid crisis makes it tempting to think that what is deepest in human beings is the craving for intoxicating pleasure that drugs can provide. But is there not hidden within each of us and within every addict a profound longing for something more and something else than this? If so, what is this “something more”? And how are we to free the longing for it that is in us from the addictions that suffocate it? Jerome Miller, philosophy professor emeritus, leads the conversation-style seminar that explores these issues and considers some of the insights that our philosophical traditions and 12-Step spirituality offer.

4 SUNDAY

Nobody Kill Anybody: The Ceasefire Weekend in Baltimore
Conway Hall 153, 6-7:30 p.m.
PACE INFORMED & ENGAGED LECTURE: “Nobody Kill Anybody” was the theme for the grassroots campaign against gun violence during a ceasefire weekend on August 4-6, 2017, in Baltimore. The ceasefire, also known as the Baltimore Peace Challenge, was a collection of more than 30 events to generate grass-roots pressure to halt the violence that resulted in a record 204 homicides in the city through July 2017. Co-organizer Erricka Bridgeford shares how the idea for the ceasefire developed and how organizations, individuals and gang members responded. She also discusses lessons learned and what might be ahead.

FRIDAY
Moscow Festival Ballet: Gala Program
This is a ticketed event – Subsidized ticket price:
$15 per performance, no limit
Available at the Guerrieri Student Union Information Desk:
SU students, faculty, staff & alumni – Jan. 29; Community – Feb. 9

PERFORMANCE: This full-length ballet and gala presentation feature Bolshoi Ballet back-drops and costumes. The Moscow Festival Ballet was founded in 1989 when legendary principal dancer of the Bolshoi Ballet Sergei Radchenko sought to realize his vision of a company that would bring together the highest classical elements of the great Bolshoi and Kirov ballet companies in an independent new company within the framework of Russian classic ballet. Leading dancers from across Russia have forged under Radchenko’s direction an exciting company staging new productions of these timeless classics. Don Quixote depicts the story of an old nobleman who believes he is called to knightly deeds and seeks adventures in the service of the beautiful Dulcinea, whom he has glimpsed in a vision. The Gala Program is a celebration of choreography preserved by the company over the past five decades. The program includes Marius Petipa’s technically exuberant Paquita from the old Imperial Russian Ballet, the celebrated “Kingdom of the Shades” Grand Pas de Deux from La Bayadere, Michel Fokine’s unforgettable Dying Swan – choreographed for the great Anna Pavlova and set to Saint-Saens’ Le Cygne – and much more!

Holloway Hall Auditorium, 8 p.m. & *2 p.m.
SU THEATRE: Winner of eight Tony Awards, this long-running Broadway musical is an adaptation of the John Waters’ film of the same name. Set in nearby Baltimore in the early 1960s, Hairspray tells the story of Tracy Turnblad: of her desire to dance on a popular television show – and of her rally against body-shaming and racial prejudice in the process. A frothy confection with a deeper meaning, this throwback to the great musical comedies of the mid-20th century and its pop- and R&B-inflected score will have you laughing ‘til your sides hurt and dancing in the aisles. Directed by Matt Saltzberg. $*
