Institutional Overview

Classified by Carnegie as a Master's University with larger programs, Salisbury University (SU) has a balanced mix of undergraduate programs, as well as applied graduate programs. The University continues to meet the increasing demands of society for quality education and offers a variety of undergraduate programs in liberal arts, sciences, and in the professional fields of business, education, medical lab sciences, nursing, respiratory therapy, and social work. Currently, SU offers more than 60 distinct academic programs, including 47 undergraduate majors, 15 master's degrees, and two doctoral programs (several of which are now offered in fully online formats). At present, 89.5% of students are enrolled in SU's undergraduate programs, with 10.5% enrolled at the graduate level.

Brief Institutional History

In 1922, the Maryland Legislature established a commission to determine a location for a two-year teacher's college on the state's Eastern Shore. A site in Salisbury was selected and the Maryland State Normal School opened in September 1925. A two-year course of study was increased to three years in 1931 and to four years in 1934. Following this increase, and by action of the Maryland Legislature in 1935, the institution was authorized to begin granting Bachelor of Science degrees, with the school's name changing to the Maryland State Teachers College.

The institution expanded its academic programs in 1947 and again in 1960 to offer more four-year programs in arts and sciences and to provide students with a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. In 1962, the State Board of Trustees approved a graduate program leading to the Master of Education, and other master's degree programs soon followed. This expansion led to the school's name changing again in 1963 to Salisbury State College.

The 1980s and 1990s were marked by philanthropic support, which enabled the campus to establish new schools, programs, and academic initiatives. Endowments led to the establishment of the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business, the Richard A. Henson School of Science and Technology, the Charles R. and Martha N. Fulton School of Liberal Arts, and the Samuel W. and Marilyn C. Seidel School of Education. In the decades that followed, the expansion of the physical footprint of the campus was dramatic. New buildings like the Henson Science Hall, Conway Hall, Perdue Hall, Sea Gull Square, Sea Gull Stadium, and the Patricia R. Guerrieri Academic Commons were erected. In 2001, the institution was once again renamed as Salisbury University in recognition of its regional comprehensive university mission. The most recent developments have been the launch of the College of Health and Human Services (2018) and the endowment of the Glenda Chatham and Robert G. Clarke Honors College (2020).

In April 2021, SU faculty voted to adopt new General Education requirements, which will go into effect starting fall 2024. The revised requirements were developed by a work group comprised of faculty from across the University. Although the new General Education requirements represent a substantial curricular shift, they were specifically designed to advance the University's Mission. More details about the new General Education requirements and implementation plan are available here: General Education 2024.

Another response to our Strategic Plan objectives was the launch of SU's new brand initiative – "Make Tomorrow Yours." In fall 2021, after a year-long research and development effort, a new brand promise and pillars that reflect the University's priorities were unveiled. The concept of "Tomorrow Makers" captures SU's long-standing commitment to providing students with rich and plentiful opportunities, as well as the dedication of faculty and staff who change the trajectory of students' lives and open doors for graduates to thrive. SU provides a warm, friendly, inclusive environment, where expert professors deliver life-changing experiences that propel students forward to a better tomorrow in their careers, communities, and personal lives.

SU has been ranked by U.S. News & World Report (Top Public Schools, Best Value Schools), The Princeton Review (Best Colleges, Green Colleges, Best College Libraries), Forbes (Top Colleges, Best Value Colleges), Money (America's Best Colleges), Kiplinger's (Best Public College Values), and others. Providing an excellent return on investment for students and families, SU remains among the state's most affordable options for college-bound students. Recognized as an efficient and effective institution, SU was named a "Model of Efficiency" by University Business for four consecutive years and was highlighted for its productivity and strong graduation rates by Maryland's Department of Legislative Services. In 2020, SU received the prestigious Community-Engaged Campus designation by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Additionally, SU has the distinction of being ranked among the nation's Top Producers of Fulbright Students for six years in a row and for producing the most of any Master's Large in the nation in 2023.

In July 2022, the University welcomed Dr. Carolyn Ringer Lepre as its 10th President. Dr. Lepre joined SU from Radford University (Radford, VA) where she served as the Interim President and previously as Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs. Following her arrival, the University enrolled 6,378 undergraduate and 745 graduate students for a total institutional enrollment of 7,123 in fall 2022. In addition, SU employs 612 faculty and more than 1,100 staff. With a student-faculty ratio of 13:1, the University fosters close engagement between students and faculty, and brings together talented students from across campus in collaborative research, professional development, and experiential learning opportunities. The University values the diversity of its student population – undergraduate minority and international enrollment is approximately 29% – and its students represent 33 different states and 48 unique countries. The campus is composed of over 200 acres, with 101 buildings and 12 residence halls.

Salisbury University houses several centers of excellence, including the Bosserman Center for Conflict Resolution; the Innovation, Entrepreneurship, and Economic Development Hub; the Institute of Public Affairs and Civic Engagement (PACE); Business Economic and Community Outreach Network (BEACON); Mid-Atlantic Sales and Marketing Institute (MASMI); Nabb Research Center for Delmarva History and Culture; Eastern Shore Regional GIS Cooperative (ESRGC); and the Dave and Patsy Rommel Center for Entrepreneurship in Downtown Salisbury. The University supports four University Art Galleries, Delmarva Public Media (three public radio stations), and owns a large regional art collection

University System of Maryland

The University is a member of the University System of Maryland (USM). The USM was established by the Maryland General Assembly in 1988 with the merger of the five University of Maryland institutions and the six members of the state University and College System of Maryland. Today, the USM is comprised of a system office led by the chancellor, three regional higher education centers, and 12 institutions, including Salisbury University.

The mission of the USM is to improve the quality of life for the people of Maryland by providing a comprehensive range of high-quality, accessible, and affordable educational opportunities; engaging in research and creative scholarship that expand the boundaries of current knowledge; and providing knowledge-based programs and services that are responsive to the needs of the citizens of the state and the nation. USM fulfills its mission through the effective and efficient management of its resources and the focused missions and activities of each of its component institutions. The programs and activities of the USM have a significant impact on the quality of life in Maryland and create social and economic benefits for people throughout the state and beyond.

The USM is the most heterogeneous system in the country with four-year institutional members, having R1, R2, and regional comprehensive universities; three Historically Black Colleges and Universities; a professional schools university; an institution devoted to environment sciences; and an online global university. The system is highly collaborative with regular meetings of Presidents, Provosts, Vice Presidents for Student Affairs, Enrollment Management executives, and affinity groups that include directors of financial aid, admission and transfer, and health and counseling services. Similarly, there are faculty, staff, and student shared governance groups within the USM that enable institutional representatives to collaborate and advocate at the system level. These collaborative and mutually respectful relationships have been very important during the challenging years of the pandemic.

A 21-member Board of Regents (BOR), including two full-time students, governs the USM, and members serve on the board without compensation. Appointed largely by the Governor, the Regents oversee USM's academic, administrative, and financial operations; formulate policy; and appoint the USM Chancellor and the Presidents at each institution. Apart from the student members, each Regent is appointed for a term of five years and may not serve more than two consecutive terms. The Student Regents are appointed for two-year terms, serving as a voting member in their second year.

University Mission

The University's Mission statement was adopted in 2014 and revised in 2019:

Salisbury University is a premier comprehensive Maryland public university offering excellent, affordable education in undergraduate liberal arts, sciences, business, nursing, health sciences, social work, and education and applied master's and doctoral programs. Our highest purpose is to empower our students with the knowledge, skills, and core values that contribute to active citizenship, gainful employment, and life-long learning in a democratic society and interdependent world.

Salisbury University cultivates and sustains a superior learning community where students, faculty, and staff are viewed as learners, teachers/scholars, and facilitators, and where a commitment to excellence and openness to a broad array of ideas and perspectives are central to all aspects of University life. Our learning community is student-centered. Students learn from professional educators in small classroom settings, faculty and professional staff serve as academic advisors, and virtually every student has an opportunity to undertake research or experiential learning with a faculty mentor. Through our five privately endowed units (the Charles R. and Martha N. Fulton School of Liberal Arts, the Richard A. Henson School of Science and Technology, the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business, the Samuel W. and Marilyn C. Seidel School of Education, and the Glenda Chatham and Robert G. Clarke Honors College), and the recently established College of Health and Human Services, we foster an environment where individuals prepare for their careers and lives, with a focus on their social, physical, occupational, emotional and intellectual well-being.

The University recruits exceptional and diverse faculty, staff, and undergraduate and graduate students from across Maryland and the United States and from around the world, supporting all members of the University community as they work together to achieve institutional goals and vision. Believing that learning and service are vital components of civic life, SU actively contributes to the local Eastern Shore community and the educational, economic, cultural, and social needs of our State and nation.

Strategic Plan 2020-2025

In creating the 2020-25 Strategic Plan, SU created focus groups from across campus to elicit feedback from as many voices as possible. During these workshops, national, state, and regional higher education trends were examined alongside institutional data to inform the development of each goal. Through this effort, SU developed five overarching goals: (1) enrich academic success and student development; (2) inspire a campus culture of inclusive excellence, support, and collaboration; (3) support access, affordability, and academic excellence; (4) deepen community engagement; and (5) enhance environmental, social, and economic sustainability. Strategic planning is overseen by the Associate Vice President for Planning and Assessment, and the Strategic Planning and Budget Committee (SPBC) provides oversight of the entire process and annually reviews the plan and progress towards accomplishing the goals and recommendations. The SPBC is comprised of faculty, staff, and student governance groups, Deans, Vice Presidents, as well as representatives from other campus offices. The 2020-25 Strategic Plan guides us as we selected the institutional priorities to include in our Self-Study.

Institutional Priorities To Be Addressed in the Self-Study

Preparations for SU's 2025 Self-Study began in fall 2022 with the Provost, Vice President for Administration and Finance, Vice President for Student Affairs, Associate Vice President for Planning and Assessment, Associate Vice President for Administration and Finance, Assistant Provost for Faculty Success, Associate Vice President for Enrollment Management, and Deputy Chief of Staff for Communications, known as the Self-Study Planning Team (SSPT), attending the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) Self-Study Institute (SSI). Through the SSI, the SSPT developed a tentative Self-Study timeline, recommended members for the Self-Study Steering Committee (SSSC), and reviewed and recommended a Self-Study approach and strategy. Dr. Kara Raab, Associate Vice President for Planning and Assessment, and Dr. Jessica Clark, Assistant Provost for Faculty Success, were appointed to co-chair the SSSC.

Throughout this process, the institution encouraged the involvement of all members of the campus community, through campuswide meetings, a 2025 Self-Study website, the SPBC, SSSC, and working groups. The suggestions from the SSPT were shared campuswide through meetings with the SPBC, SU's shared governance groups (Faculty Senate, Adjunct Faculty Caucus, Staff Senate, Student Government Association, Graduate Student Council), and the President's Advisory Team. Additionally, campuswide emails were sent sharing information about the upcoming Self-Study process and requested volunteers to serve on the Self-Study working groups.

The SSPT and SPBC believed the most logical organizational format of the Self-Study would be to utilize the priorities-based approach focusing on the five goals of the 2020-25 Strategic Plan to demonstrate how the institution is accomplishing each of the seven MSCHE standards. SU's Self-Study will focus on how the University strives to:

1. Enrich Academic Success and Student Development
2. Inspire a Campus Culture of Inclusive Excellence, Support, and Collaboration
3. Support Access, Affordability, and Academic Excellence
4. Deepen Engagement with Our Community

The institutional recommendations included within the fifth Strategic Plan goal – Enhance Environmental, Social, and Economic Sustainability – are integrated throughout the four selected priorities listed above. As can be seen in Table 1, each priority is aligned with all the goals and recommendations of the 2020-2025 Strategic Plan. In addition, subsequent tables demonstrate how the four Self-Study priorities are aligned with the University's Mission statement (Table 2) and the MSCHE standards (Table 3).

Intended Outcomes of the Self-Study

The Self-Study process provides the University with an opportunity to conduct a comprehensive review of the last nine years of institutional history as well as a look ahead to the next decade. Through a multiyear, data-driven, and consensus-based review, SU will achieve the following outcomes:

1. Engage the SU community in an inclusive and transparent self-appraisal process that actively and deliberately involves members from all areas of the campus community.
2. Facilitate open and inclusive campus discussions about the University's strengths and opportunities for improvement.
3. Encourage continuous improvement in the attainment of our institutional Mission and priorities.
4. Compose a comprehensive document with a common vision and goals that can be used for future planning.
5. Reaffirm that the University meets each of the seven MSCHE Standards for Accreditation and the Requirements of Affiliation, resulting in our reaccreditation..

Self-Study Approach

In consultation with the SSPT and SPBC, the University decided to utilize a priorities-based approach for our Self-Study. As discussed previously, four priorities, aligned with SU's Strategic Plan, will be the focus of our Self-Study. During SU's 2016 Self-Study, the University found that a comprehensive model with special emphasis on select University goals allowed us to achieve our Self-Study outcomes.

Similarly, for the 2025 Self-Study, we believe the priorities-based approach will allow us to thoroughly examine our current Strategic Plan accomplishments and opportunities while also gathering comprehensive feedback across campus about the future aspirations of the University. As such, we anticipate that a priorities-based approach to our Self-Study will facilitate a successful development of our next Strategic Plan as well.

As noted on page 7, the SSPT and SPBC believe the most logical organizational format of the Self-Study would use the priorities-based approach, utilizing four of the five goals of the 2020-25 Strategic Plan to highlight how the institution is accomplishing each of the seven MSCHE standards. SU's Self-Study will focus on how the University strives to:

1. Enrich Academic Success and Student Development
2. Inspire a Campus Culture of Inclusive Excellence, Support, and Collaboration
3. Support Access, Affordability, and Academic Excellence
4. Deepen Engagement with Our Community

The institutional recommendations included within the fifth Strategic Plan goal, Enhance Environmental, Social, and Economic Sustainability, were integrated throughout the four selected priorities. As can be seen in Table 1, each priority is aligned with all of the goals and recommendations of the 2020-2025 Strategic Plan. In addition, subsequent tables demonstrate how the four Self-Study priorities have been aligned with the University's Mission statement (Table 2) and the MSCHE standards (Table 3).

Organizational Structure of the Steering Committee and Working Groups

Steering Committee

The SSPT attended the MSCHE SSI in fall 2022 and developed a tentative Self-Study timeline, reviewed and recommended a Self-Study approach and strategy, and created membership recommendations for the Self-Study Steering Committee (SSSC). Dr. Kara Raab, Associate Vice President for Planning and Assessment, and Dr. Jessica Clark, Assistant Provost for Faculty Success, were appointed to co-chair SSSC. The SSSC Co-Chairs sent a campuswide email explaining the importance of the reaccreditation process and requested participation from all parts of the campus, this included a Microsoft Forms link that allowed people to indicate their interest in participating in a working group (and a place to indicate which working group they felt they could best compliment based on their institutional knowledge and experience). Following this email, a second targeted email was sent to the group recommended by the SSPT to be SSSC members, which are listed below.

Steering Committee Members

Dr. Jessica Clark	Assistant Provost, Faculty Success & Associate Professor, Biological Sciences & SSSC Co-Chair
Dr. Kara Raab	Associate Vice President, Planning and Assessment & SSSC Co-Chair
Lynn Adkins	Associate Vice President, Administration & Finance
Joe Benyish	Chair of Staff Senate-Director, Orientation, Transition, & Family Programs
Dr. Chrys Egan	Associate Dean, Fulton School of Liberal Arts & Professor, Communication
Dr. Dane Foust	Vice President, Student Affairs & Auxiliary Services
Michele Garigliano	SU Foundation Board Member & SU Alumna
Dr. Clifton Griffin	Dean, Graduate Studies & Research
Dr. Laurie Henry	Dean, Seidel School of Education
Dr. Robert Joyner	Alumni Board Member
Allen Koehler	Associate Vice President, Enrollment Management
Ken Kundell	Chief Information Officer
Dr. Emin Lelic	Representative from Faculty Senate-Long Range Academic Planning & Assistant Professor, History
Dr. Deneen Long-White	Associate Professor, Public Health & Faculty Senate Vice President
Dr. Karen Olmstead	Provost and Senior Vice President, Academic Affairs
Wyatt Parks	Student Government Association Representative
Nicholas Plummer	Graduate Student Council Representative
Andrew Smarick	University System of Maryland, Board of Regents Representative
Eric Stewart	Deputy Chief of Staff, Communications

The SSSC met for the first time on February 21, 2023, and reviewed the Self-Study process, including the Self-Study timeline, working group membership and charges, and discussed details around the Self-Study Design Plan (SSDP). The SSSC also reviewed SU's MSCHE 2025 website created by the Steering Committee Co-Chairs, which was established to keep the campus informed of the reaccreditation process and to solicit input from various constituencies. Much of the discussion was focused on the SSSC Charge (see below) and how to best ensure continuity in data/document/evidence collection and reporting across working groups. To best manage this, each SSSC member will be associated with one of the five working groups and serve as a liaison between their working group and the SSSC to facilitate communication between the committees. The SSSC members will attend biweekly working group meetings and communicate progress, challenges, and needs back to the SSSC at the regular biweekly SSSC meetings. SSSC will ensure the working groups have access to all materials and data necessary to complete their research, and because of the organization between the working groups and the SSSC, we expect to limit the amount of duplicated efforts. Additionally, the SSSC will provide regular updates to the campus community through the various shared governance bodies and the website.

2025 Self-Study Steering Committee Charge

The Steering Committee is responsible for ensuring that SU is compliant with the seven Standards for Accreditation as set forth by MSCHE and will do so by providing oversight and leadership of the entire Self-Study process. More specifically, members of the Self-Study Steering Committee (SSSC) will:

1. Develop a timeline to ensure key milestones are met.
2. Review the Self-Study Design Plan.
3. Act as liaisons to one of the five working groups to:
 - a. Provide guidance to ensure adherence to the guidelines set forth by MSCHE..
 - b. Ensure continuity in data/document/evidence collection and reporting.
 - c. Set and lead meetings and ensure that minutes are recorded.
 - d. Monitor the progress of the working groups and provide regular updates to the institution's leadership.
 - e. Ensure working groups addressed all MSCHE Standards and associated criteria.
 - f. Make sure all established deadlines are met.
 - g. Accurately compile evidence from the working groups to analyze SU's challenges and strengths and create a Self-Study report reflective of that.
 - h. Review the final Self-Study report and ensure effective communication across campus.
4. Prepare for the site visit and provide the visiting team with all necessary documentation and materials.
5. Participate in the site visit and ensure all members of the visiting team have access to the information and individuals they need to conduct a thorough review.
6. Review the final report from the visiting team and work with the institution's leadership to develop a response and plan for addressing any identified areas for improvement.
7. The SSSC's ultimate goal is to ensure the institution is meeting the standards for quality and excellence in higher education necessary to be reaccredited, and that it is well positioned to support student success now and in the future.

Working Groups

Based on the University's decision to utilize a priorities-based approach, four working groups were created for each of the previously identified institutional priorities. In addition, a fifth working group was created to examine and provide evidence of compliance with the MSCHE's Requirements of Affiliation. Therefore, five working groups were created – SU's Self-Study will focus on how the University strives to:

1. Enrich Academic Success and Student Development
2. Inspire a Campus Culture of Inclusive Excellence, Support, and Collaboration
3. Support Access, Affordability, and Academic Excellence
4. Deepen Engagement with Our Community
5. Meet MSCHE's Requirements of Affiliation

The SSPT sought volunteers from the entire University community to serve on the working groups, including faculty, staff, and students. The SSPT ensured everyone who volunteered would have an opportunity to serve on a working group – nobody was turned away. In January 2023, the SSSC Co-Chairs sent a campuswide email explaining the importance of the reaccreditation process and requested campuswide participation, this included a Microsoft Forms link that allowed people to indicate their interest in participating in a working group (and a place to indicate which working group they felt they could best compliment based on their institutional knowledge and experience). Following this email, a second targeted email was sent to members of the campus community that the SSPT group recommended for inclusion in specific workgroups based on their institutional knowledge and unique experiences.

Each working group is composed of a diverse group of students, faculty, and staff representatives with varying skill sets and institutional perspectives, and each group will include one or two SSSC members who will serve as liaisons between their working group and the SSSC. This will enhance and facilitate communication among the various groups, preventing duplication of effort. The SSSC members will attend the biweekly working group meetings and then communicate progress, challenges, and needs back to the SSSC. Additionally, all working groups will choose Chairs or Co-Chairs to coordinate the individual working group logistics. SSSC members will assist their working groups in selecting a secretary to take meeting minutes and creating subgroups, when necessary, to focus on responding to specific research questions.

In April 2023, the SSSC Co-Chairs hosted a half-day retreat for the SSSC, which was attended by all of the working group members. During the retreat, the Co-Chairs described the Self-Study process and timeline, provided an overview of Microsoft Teams and how it would be used to manage the Self-Study project, and shared the working group charges and research questions. As a part of their work, each working group will respond to a set of research questions provided by the SSSC and provide a 10–15-page written report identifying the strengths and opportunities related to their institutional priority. Additionally, working groups will provide all documents necessary to demonstrate compliance with their associated MSCHE standards. Membership, charges, and research questions for each of the five working groups can be found below. Templates for each working group, which align their research questions with the MSCHE Standard for Accreditation, can be found in the appendix starting on page 28.

Working groups began their work in spring 2023, and before July 1, 2023, they will review their charges and request documents needed to begin addressing their charges in fall 2023. Each working group includes one to two SSSC members who serve as liaisons between their working group and the SSSC. The SSSC members will attend the biweekly working group meetings, and then communicate progress, challenges, and needs back to the SSSC. Final working group reports will be due to the SSSC by March 1, 2024.

Each working group report should be approximately 10-15 pages in length and include each of the sections identified below. In addition, the report should respond to each of the priorities-based research questions provided to the working group. The report should also include an appendix of any data and/or reports used to demonstrate compliance with the MSCHE Standards. The template and format for each working group report is included below. Upon receiving the working groups' reports, the recommendations will be discussed with the SSSC, and a final version will be vetted by the co-chairs.

Strategy for Verification of Compliance

While SU has created four working groups aligned with our Self-Study institutional priorities, a fifth working group will address the Requirements of Affiliation and verification of compliance with all applicable federal regulatory requirements. The Requirements of Affiliation working group is led by SU's Provost and Senior Vice President of Academic Affairs, Dr. Karen Olmstead. Dr. Olmstead will have a special assignment beginning July 2023 through December 2023 to lead and coordinate the efforts of the Requirements of Affiliation working group. In addition to Dr. Olmstead, the Requirements of Affiliation Working Group Five includes: the Associate Vice President, Enrollment Management; USM Regent; Associate Vice President, Administration and Finance; Captain/Associate Chief, University Police; Assistant Dean, Seidel School of Education, and Associate Professor, Early and Elementary Education; Associate Vice President, Human Resources; Library Acquisition Specialist; Admissions Counselor; Director, Academic Affairs Administrative Operations; and Assistant Provost, International Education. The specific names of the working group's five members can be found in the working groups section above. As needed, additional faculty and staff members will be added to the working group to ensure adequate coverage.

Communication Plan

The SSPT and the SSSC worked collaboratively to create a Self-Study communication plan that would provide regular updates to campus stakeholders, allow for input and feedback, and ensure a collaborative and inclusive Self-Study process. The detailed Communication Plan can be found in the appendix on page 42. The SSSC and Co-Chairs will provide regular updates to the campus community through the various shared governance bodies and through the website. In addition, multiple campuswide emails have been sent providing details for the upcoming Self-Study and requesting participation in the working groups. Additionally, at President Lepre's State of the University presentation on February 7, 2023, information regarding the Self-Study was shared with attendees.

Evaluation Team Profile

SU is a public, comprehensive university with a student body of approximately 7,100 undergraduate and graduate students. While the University is largely composed of undergraduate students, roughly 90% of overall student enrollment, there are 15 applied master's and two doctoral programs, as well as several certificate programs. Included in SU's Strategic Plan goals are planned growth to an overall student enrollment of approximately 8,500 students, including growing the graduate student population to 12% of our overall enrollment. SU is focused on continuing to improve student retention and building additional opportunities for students to participate in high-impact practices and experiential learning. With a basic Carnegie classification of Master's Larger programs, SU hopes that its Team Chair and Team Members are from public, comprehensive institutions of similar size and programmatic blend. To assist with the selection of the Team Chair and Team Members from peer institutions, a table of the most popular programs based on enrollment can be found below.

Additionally, to assist with the selection of a Team Chair and Team Members, it may be helpful to examine SU's performance and aspirational peers. During the 2017 legislative session, the state determined that a funding model that used the same 10 states (i.e., California, Massachusetts, Washington, North Carolina, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Virginia, and Minnesota) with which Maryland competes against most heavily in the national economy would be used for funding decisions and performance comparisons. Moreover, the 2017 model required a cluster analysis of all public four-year institutions in those 10 states, and within an institution's Carnegie group classification, be applied to select a group of funding peers based on a variety of institutional characteristics. As a result, 36 funding peers were selected as closest to SU based on five statistical models. Currently, there is a subgroup of our funding peers designated as our performance peers. Our performance peers include:

1. Buffalo State College
2. SUNY, Framingham State University
3. Radford University*
4. Rowan University*
5. SUNY Oswego
6. The College at Brockport, SUNY
7. University of North Carolina Wilmington*
8. Western Carolina University*
9. West Chester University of Pennsylvania*
10. William Patterson University of New Jersey

While some of these institutions, indicated with an asterisk, are no longer classified within the same Master's Large Carnegie classification as SU, they continue to be included in our performance peer group for University System of Maryland and the Maryland Higher Education Commission performance and funding comparisons. As these institutions have now moved into a Doctoral Carnegie classification, they can be considered aspirational peers.

In addition to these USM/MHEC performance peers, there are additional institutions within the MSCHE accreditation region that could be considered SU's competitors:

1. Commonwealth University of Pennsylvania
2. East Stroudsburg University of Pennsylvania
3. Millersville University of Pennsylvania
4. Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania
5. Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania

Evidence Inventory Strategy

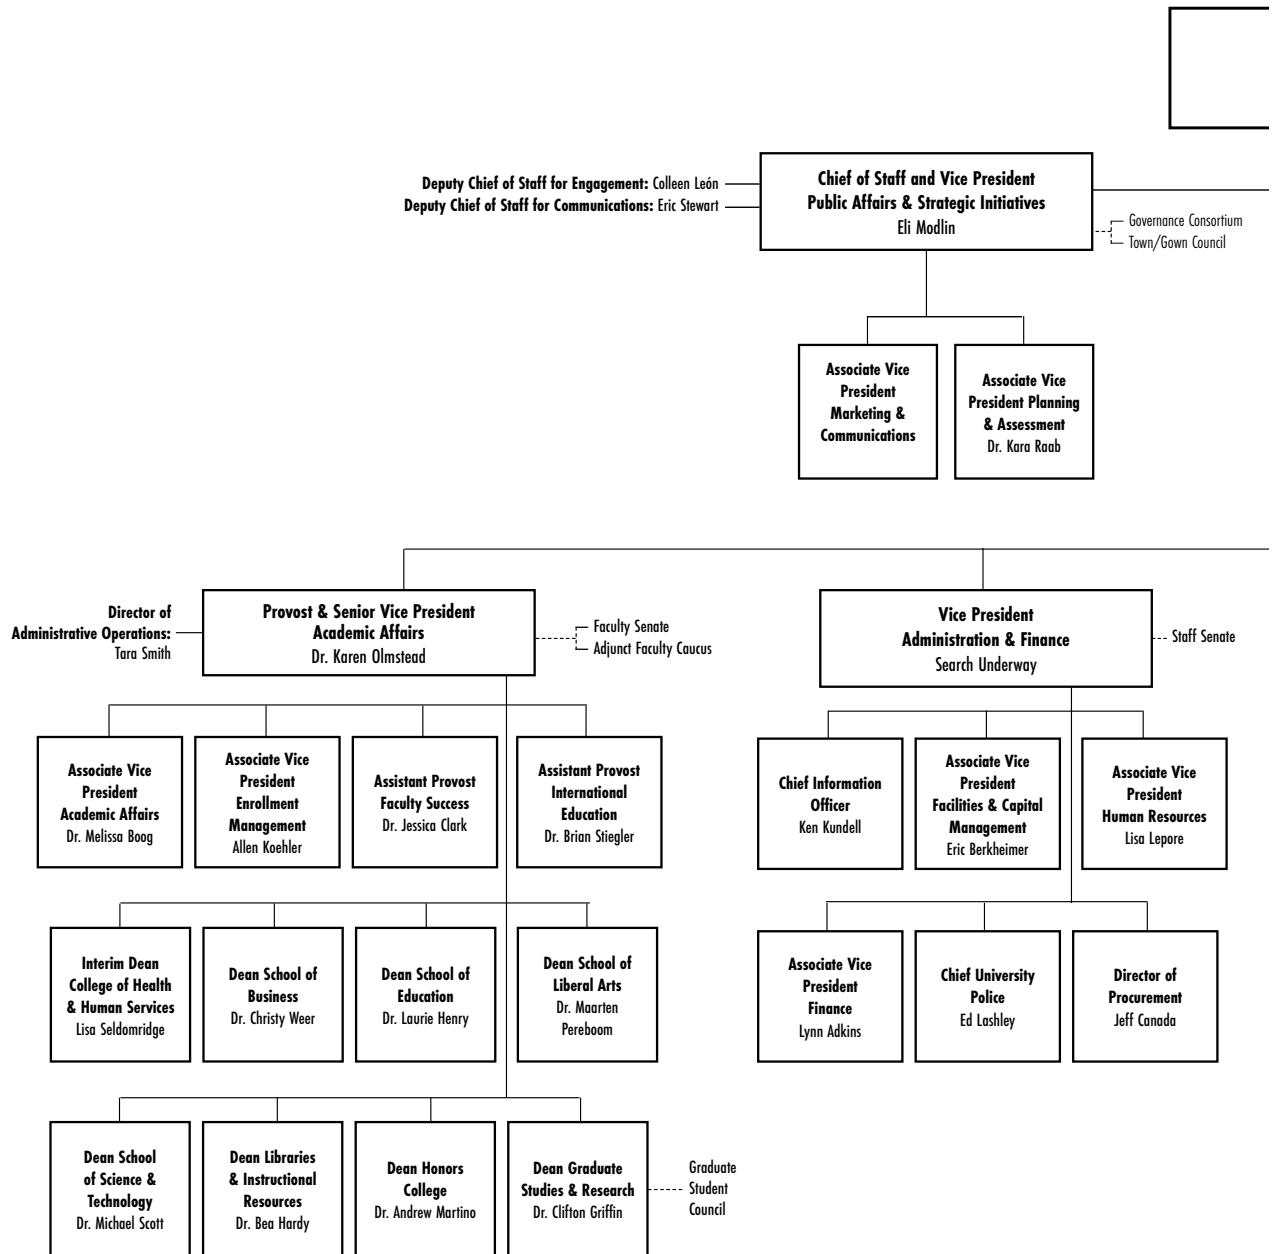

The Self-Study Co-Chairs have developed a Microsoft Team's site (MSCHE 2025 Teams) for the reaccreditation effort. Within MSCHE 2025 Teams, there is a channel for the SSSC and channels for each of the five working groups. Each channel is unlocked to allow for transparency and communication. Within each channel are a meeting agenda and minutes template that all groups have been asked to use to allow for uniformity in minute taking. We are encouraging that communication occur primarily within these channels. In the General channel, an Evidence Inventory folder exists and has a separate subfolder for each of the seven MSCHE Standards for Accreditation and one for Requirements of Affiliation. Each of these folders includes an Evidence Inventory Self-Evaluation Rubric for that standard, as well as a relevant Evidence Inventory Template. These are currently being populated for each working group with our initial inventory materials. All working groups will be able to add documents to these folders, and having a centralized location for these materials will limit duplication of effort between groups.

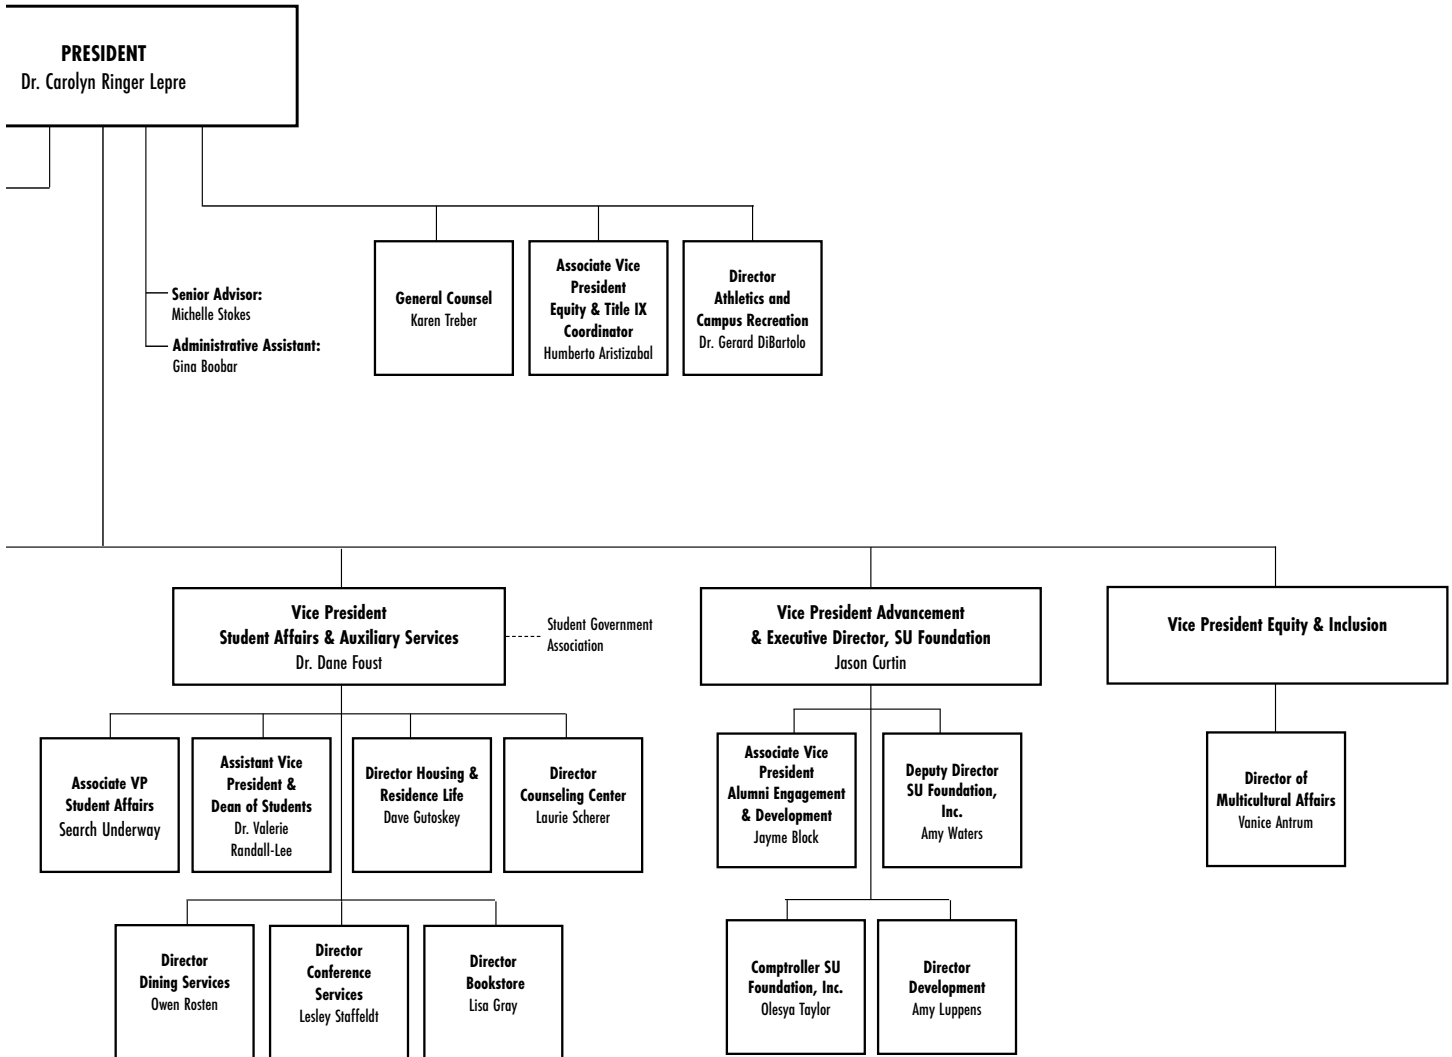

Once the working groups have completed their work, the SSSC Co-Chairs will review the lists and determine if there are gaps in the evidence inventory. The Co-Chairs will work with the SSSC to fill the gaps and/or provide recommendations as a part of the Self-Study process to address the gaps. For the final version of the Self-Study report, an acronym list will be created for the external reviewers to facilitate their reading of the report. Additionally, abbreviated evidence inventory lists for each chapter of the Self-Study will be created to allow the external reviewers to easily identify the evidence relevant to each chapter. The final evidence inventory will be uploaded to the MSCHE institutional portal by the SSSC Co-Chairs.
