

Philosophy Department

Fulton School of Liberal Arts

PROGRAMS

MAJOR

- Philosophy

MINORS

- Asian Studies
- Health Humanities
- Philosophy
- Religious Studies

Love What You Learn

We believe that philosophy is the "love of wisdom."

Find kindred spirits by asking the big questions. We are a community of thinkers. We engage in careful reflection about our experiences. We think through our values. We question our beliefs. And, we make philosophy relevant through our community engagement and use that community to connect the personal and the professional, our current students and our alumni, building a bigger world and a legacy of mentorship and success.

Make a Connection, Make a Change

Philosophy can't be contained in a classroom.

Never heard of philosophy before? Help us change that. Our department has five major outreach programs connecting our discipline to the most pressing moral and political issues of our time. Make dialogue with fifth graders about the reality of our dreams and discover how natural philosophy is. Travel to India and see the origins of critical thought. Read books in a local prison and develop new appreciation for responsibility and freedom. Or, just gather with our student Philosophical Society to tackle the biggest controversies around technology, identity, justice and meaning. We don't just study philosophy, we find all the places in our world where we need it.

Engaged & Accomplished Faculty

You won't be lost in the crowd.

Every major, minor and friend of the department is important to us. Our faculty teach what they love and have mentored generations of philosophy students to success and personal growth. We live and breathe to keep our traditions going, from selecting the right courses to connecting with our successful and generous alumni. We research and publish, coach a nationally competitive Ethics Bowl team, and have success in grants, publications, and active and collaborative research projects. And through it all we make lifelong friendships and connections. Let's discover what success means for you, from a love of learning to the career you love.

FACULTY

Chair

- Professor Timothy Stock, Ph.D.
University of Toronto

Professors

- Grace Clement, Ph.D. .
Northwestern University
- Joerg Tuske, Ph.D.
Cambridge University

Associate Professors

- Cristina Cammarano, Ph.D.
Columbia University

Assistant Professors

- Yujia Song, Ph.D.
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Emeritus Faculty

- James Hatley, Ph.D.
State University of New York at Stony Brook
- Francis Kane, Ph.D.
Georgetown University
- Jerome Miller, Ph.D.
Georgetown University

"I think joining the philosophy program was pivotal for me. Each class I took brought me further into the habits of mind that I think of as foundational to every choice I've made since. Being a part of the philosophy program made me a better writer, challenged my thinking and helped me to see broader conceptual connections"

— Hailey Gibbs, Class of 2016, SU Philosophy Major
Senior Policy Analyst in Early Childhood Policy, Center for American Progress

CAREER SPOTLIGHT

Our students cultivate their abilities to read carefully, to argue reflectively, to write clearly and to speak persuasively. Philosophy students score among the highest of all majors on graduate school entrance exams such as the GRE and LSAT. Some areas that our alumni can boast successful careers are:

- Ethics, Philosophy & Public Policy
- Law, Finance & Business Administration
- Teaching, Higher Education Administration & Policy
- Social Work, Counseling & Religious Ministry
- Library & Information Science, Programming & User Experience
- Professional Writing, Journalism & Media

CONTACT INFORMATION

For information on the Philosophy Department:
410-677-5070

Make Tomorrow Yours

www.salisbury.edu/philosophy

SU is an Equal Opportunity/AA/Title IX university and provides reasonable accommodation given sufficient notice to the University office or staff sponsoring the event or program. For more information regarding SU's policies and procedures, please visit www.salisbury.edu/equity.