Fall Ratcliffe Foundation Shore Hatchery Entrepreneurs Competition Winners Announced

What happens when medical technology and industrial building inspection collide? That's the question Phillip Alvarez, founder of Baltimore-based Perphora, LLC, sought to answer. The company, which focuses on improving technology traditionally used for intraocular imaging with software and hardware to improve building coating application quality control, was the big winner of this fall's Philip E. and Carole R. Ratcliffe Foundation Shore Hatchery entrepreneurship competition, earning a $30,000 grand prize.

DEVELOPMENT NEWS

Alumnus' Scholarship Honors Wife's Memory

Gary White graduated from then Maryland State Teachers College at Salisbury in 1958, while his wife Marilyn (pictured) worked nearby at Peninsula General Hospital. She worked primarily in OB-GYN before she went back to college and graduated from Salisbury with a teaching degree in 1971. They celebrated more than 60 years of marriage together before Marilyn passed away in 2020. In her memory, Gary wanted to make a special gift. He donated in his wife's name for a scholarship that would award $10,000 to one student in SU's Nursing Program. Nursing faculty chose a recipient based on hard work and financial need. Mr. White surprised the stunned student with a phone call letting her know that he was picking up her tuition for a year. It was quite a moment and one that neither will ever forget. Further, Mr. White has endowed a scholarship for nursing to ensure that future generations of students will benefit from his wife's legacy. To create a scholarship or learn more, contact Stefanie Rider at skrider@salisbury.edu.
