DEVELOPMENT NEWS

Scholarship Celebrates Tossey Legacy

Much of Dr. Marvin Tossey's more than 40 years with the University was spent as chair of the Social Work Department, where he used his innovative spirit to spearhead projects that have made the School of Social Work what it is today: a student-centered program that prepares graduates to make a positive impact on their communities. In particular, Tossey worked to support nontraditional students – students above the traditional age who often work full time or have families – and address the need for social workers of color in the region. Tossey's leadership led the way for the establishment of the graduate social work program and helped expand social work education beyond the Salisbury campus. It seemed only natural that, upon his retirement, a scholarship be established in his honor. The Marvin Tossey Scholarship for Social Work will provide renewable scholarships to nontraditional students with demonstrated financial need pursuing undergraduate or graduate degrees. To honor Tossey by making a gift to his scholarship, please visit the website by clicking on the donate button below or contact Stefanie Rider at skrider@salisbury.edu.
