SCAC 266	My Story of the War The Civil War Memoirs Of The Famous Nurse, Relief Organizer, and Suffragette (electronic copy of book originally published in 1865.) Mary A. Livermore (1820–1905), editor, lecturer, and abolitionist, left her family and volunteered for the U.S. Sanitary Commission, becoming one of a handful of women to achieve national prominence and a position of leadership within the Commission. Her efforts—from nursing wounded soldiers at the front to organizing the Sanitary Fairs that raised more than a million dollars for relief work—earned the respect of Grant, Sherman, and Lincoln. Presents Livermore's remarkable war experiences, including personal reminiscences of Grant, Lincoln, "Mother" Bickerdyke, and Dorothea Dix; and chronicles the wartime activities of women—their work as nurses, their agricultural labors, and even their military contributions. Livermore reveals the everyday operations of military hospitals while preserving the individual stories of healers, soldiers, patients, and refugees. Superbly designed, generous in its use of soldiers' letters, and supplemented by illustrations and histories of nearly fifty Union and Confederate regimental flags. CD – ask at front desk	reception	1	No

SCCR131-133	Charles Carroll Papers (see E302.6.C3 A4 2001 - 3 volumes “Dear Papa, Dear Charlie” for transcriptions of 3 volumes of papers). Charles Carroll of Carrollton (Maryland 1737-1832), was a leader of the American Revolution in Maryland and only Catholic signer of the Declaration of Independence. The microfilm edition was made from original manuscript material held by the Maryland Historical Society and twenty-three other repositories. The Papers (1749-1832) include correspondence, business and legislative notes, journals, account books and Carroll's last will and testament. The papers are arranged chronologically from 1749 through 1832, except for items such as Carroll's account books, journal and will, which are grouped at the end of the reel sequence. Reel 1 includes the guide to the papers. Charles Carroll represented Maryland as a Senator in the first federal Congress until 1782 and was involved in writing the Maryland Constitution. Upon his death in 1832, he was the wealthiest citizen in the United States and last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence.	3H	3	No

SCFH 46	Joseph Brown Turner Collection- Genealogical Collection of Delaware Families. 647 microfiche slides. Consists of the genealogical notes and correspondence of Rev. Turner of 3000 Delmarva families. Turner practiced his ministry in DE in the second half of the 19 th century; his collection entails a series of interviews with families that preserved the oral traditions of the genealogical lines. Interviews included family stories that were passed down generationally. He conducted interviews with his congregation and made extensive handwritten notes in notebooks. These handwritten notes were preserved as micro fiche. Original notebooks are at the Delaware State Archives.	9A	Fiche	No
