

NATIONAL POETRY MONTH

April is National Poetry Month. The SU Libraries are celebrating in two ways: First, we are displaying a Poem-a-Day on our digital signage. The poems are by a mix of SU and local authors who have given us permission and some poets whose work is in the public domain. Second, we are having a Spine Title Poetry Contest—details below.

SPINE TITLE POETRY CONTEST

Enter our Spine Title Poetry Contest and win a magnet poetry kit. Write your own poetry by stacking books together, using the titles on their spines to create poems. Take a photo and send it to sebrazer@salisbury.edu. She will post the photo on the SU Libraries' Instagram page. The poem with the most likes by the end of the day on April 30, 2018, will be the winner. Guidelines: Entries should be in keeping with the SU Promise. The SU Libraries reserve the right to edit your image, decline to post it, or duplicate/reproduce it in whole or in part for educational purposes.

Rocking and Rolling CDs

Did you know we have many music CDs as well as spoken word CDs? The cases used to be in the Pit, but now they are on the third floor, in the compact shelving behind Maryland State Documents (GAC 330—the big reading room on the south side). You can pick up the CD case you want there and then go to the Library Services Desk on the 1st floor to request the actual CD. Late last fall, we received a donation of 5,000—yes, five thousand—rock-and-roll CDs. The Rick Seay Memorial Collection is being processed and added to the collection and to the catalog. Unique CDs are going to the Nabb Center, the others, to the third floor.

Curriculum Resource Center

The Dr. Ernie Bond Curriculum Resource Center in Room 226 of Conway Hall houses more than 14,000 books, primarily children's literature, and other items, including a growing puppet collection. It boasts a beautiful reading room for quiet study, carrels and tables near the stacks, a classroom, and several group study spaces. The two full-time libraries staff, Stephen Ford and Iris Jenkins, are ready to help you, as are the student workers. While it primarily serves students and faculty of the Seidel School, it welcomes all SU students, faculty, and staff as well as the community.

Did You Know ... that National Library Week is April 8-14 and Tuesday, April 10, is National Library Workers Day? You will find many abstracts and some links to full-text articles about libraries and technology in Library, Information Science & Technology Abstracts (LISTA), a database available on the SU Libraries' A to Z database list.
